Public Warned Beware Of X-33

Chief Harry Schneider wishes to warn householders and others against the use of "X-33 WATER REPELLENT", and extremely flammable masonry water proofers. He urges consumers and dealers who may have purchased the product to return it unopened. This product can cause serious flash fires and explosions. The Chief wishes to warn householders against trying to dispose of the product themselves without first consulting the fire department. The user runs the risk of possible death or severe injury because of the highly hazardous nature of the product.

Steps have been taken to remove the product from the market because of its hazardous nature. It is distributed by the Wilmington Chemical Corp. of Chicago, Ill.

In all, eight injuries and one death have been reported due to X-33 explosions. It appears the product will flash or explode at the slightest provocation. It has a very low flash point (point of ignition) and in cases reported has caused very severe damages to both property and persons.

Ed Connelly Typifies Good Agawam Leadership

The "Connelly for Selectman Committee" wishes this week to ask the voters of Agawam to concentrate their respective thinking on two rather important words viz: "Typical" and "Non-Conforming." The basic reason for this is that these adjectives are most applicable to the two candidates for election to the office of selectmen on Nov. 19.

May we, therefore, think together as we write illustrations of what is "typical" and what is "non-conforming" about interests in our town government.

Normally the town grew. New people came to live with us. New leaders came with them and all blended well with this "typical" attitude.

They want men and women who would act, think, and spend the town's money as though it was their own. Those who do not are "non-conformists" and fit poorly into the town's picture.

There has continued to be a change in the conformity of the election of these officials what was at one time a normal, quiet, inexpensive election program without extensive advertising has now become an expensive, misleading, mud slinging political campaign. Within a particular party caucus campaign thousands of dollars have recently been spent. Typically sound and worthy candidates that would represent either party have been "frozen" in their aspirations because they haven't the wherewithall or will not subject their (Continued on Page 5)

Raisin Little Packs for Trick or Treaters

Sweet California raisins in little packs are a favorite treat for Halloweeners in every neighborhood. Each 1½-ounce carton contains the perfect amount for a quick energy snack and they're easy for children to handle, too. Buy them singly or in bundles of six at grocery stores everywhere.

These festive raisin cup cakes, made with cake mix, also set the Halloween mood. Dark seedless California raisins are arranged in the shapes of prowling cats atop the raisin chocolate cakes. Orange icing contrasts with the dark cake and raisin decorations to carry the traditional color scheme of the day.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
PROTECTIVE REFLEXES
OF THE EYE

There are many examples of eye protection reflexes. Blinking, for instance, is a protective reflex. In a wink the eyelids can be closed to shut out excessive light, or a foreign object.

Many contact lens wearers become more conscious of dust in the air. Sometimes they will close their eyes so rapidly they will catch a dust particle before it strikes the eye and they can feel it between the lid margins. The contact lens wearer's lid reaction is more sensitive because dust underneath the lens can result in great discomfort.

We have all seen photographs taken with a flash bulb that reveals someone with their eyes closed. It is incredible how fast the eye can react.

Tearing is another good example of protective reflex. If a foreign object finds its way into the eye, the tears will well up immediately to wash out the particle. Tears are antiseptic and tend to negate the action of the foreign object. In warmer or dryer weather the tears increase automatically. This action is also protective.

The pupil of the eye will react to different degrees of light. If there is very little light, the pupil will enlarge and if there is too much, it will dilate, or grow smaller. The reflex to dilate the pupil takes a little longer than the contracting action.

Wesley

Whist Parties are held each Wednesday and Saturday night at 8:00 P.M. at the YWCA on Howard Street, Springfield. High and low score prizes and door prizes will be awarded.

UNICEF APPEAL

Agawam will participate again this year in the UNICEF "Trick or Treat" on Halloween. Young People from all the churches in town will participate in the annual appeal to help children in other lands.

This year, each church will be given an area to cover in hopes that no one will be contacted more than once. Each "teener" will have an official collection box to accept donations.

UNICEF is an organization backed by the United Nations to aid children from all nations.

Mrs. Leo Chauvin of Worcester, was crowned state queen of TOPS, as state champion with an official annual weight loss of 77 1/2 pounds and Mrs. Earle Channell of River Road, Agawam, was crowned queen of the Greater Springfield area.

Members weigh weekly on official club scales and these measurements are sent to national headquarters in Milwaukee, Wis., for compiling, the locals TOPS leader said.

PEIRCE SCHOOL PTA WILL MEET NOV. 6

Faolin Pierce School Parent-Teachers Association will meet Wednesday evening, Nov. 6th, at month's meeting is being advanced one week to avoid conflict with National Education Week.

Following the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Platon George, president, Paul Monson will present his current illustrated lecture, "India, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow". The noted broadcaster and travel lecturer has been asked to return by popular request.

Last winter's trip to India covered some six thousand miles of travel from Hindu pilgrims bathing in the sacred Ganges River to the magnificent temples of Southern India, the teeming cities of Calcutta, Bombay and Delhi to the snow-covered peaks of the mighty Himalyan Mountains.

Mrs. James Anderson is in charge of hospitality and the social hour will be supervised by Mrs. Donald Keefe.

The members of this unit have two challenges for the November meeting: Mrs. Skolnick's, Fathers to out-number Mothers, and Paul Monson's an attendance of at least 100 interested parents.

Pennies Build Schools

"How pennies contributed by Auxiliary members are building thirteen rural schools in the Dominican Republic was described by Mrs. Vernon H. Randall of Maryland in the report of the Pan-American Relations Committee. She announced that more than $20,000. had been contributed to the project, and that Ecuador had been chosen as the country for study during the coming year.

"That report carried a recommendation asking that the National President consider having the Pan-American Chairman called to Washington for a briefing session.

"Thanks to the Auxiliary from the CARE organization, which co-operated in the Dominican school project, was expressed to the Convention by Mrs. Helen Livingston Smith, CARE director. She explained that the 13 schools, each capable of instructing 100 pupils per day, would bring primary education to 1,300 children who otherwise would be without educational opportunity. She presented a framed photograph of the first school to be completed to Mrs. Koger." (from the October National News)

UNTAPPED TREASURE CHEST

THIS APPEAL SHOULD BE HEEDED

There is no worthier cause, in our view, than the annual appeal to employers to give every consideration to the hiring of physically handicapped workers.

But, far too often the purport of the drive is not clearly understood. Some employers mistakenly feel that they are being asked to show favoritism in behalf of the handicapped.

Nothing could be farther from the fact. Handicapped workers voluntarily compete with able-bodied workers for jobs and seek no special favors. All that they ask is that they not be ruled out before being given a chance to prove that their handicaps are no bar to their ability to handle a particular job.

All through the nation, in all manner of jobs, handicapped workers have written a record of great accomplishment which more than justifies the confidence management has placed in them. This ringing proof of the competence of handicapped workers should open up countless new jobs to them since this source of skills has only been lightly tapped up to now.

It goes without saying, of course, that it is in the best interests of the nation, business and industry and the persons concerned to give handicapped individuals equal opportunity to compete with the able-bodied for jobs they are qualified to fill.

SOCIAL SECURITY

If you receive a social security check every month, you'll agree that getting your check on time is very important to you. Well, it is just as important to the government that you do get every check promptly.

You can help yourself and the government to do this by letting your social security office know when you are planning to change your address. And this should be done as soon as you definitely know your new address.

How do you let your social security office know of your planned change? By writing and letting them know when and where you will move. Use one of the post cards that was given to you by the social security office, or write a letter. Be sure that you include your social security claim number and don't forget to sign the letter. You should also include your former address.

In addition, report your new address to the post office in the area from which you are moving, so that, if your letter does not reach the social security office in time, your check can be forwarded to you.

Remember, if you're going to move soon, don't forget to make a move now — by getting in touch with your social security office located at 891 State St., Springfield, Mass.

Pre-Warned Is

To Be Fore-Armed

In times as these, the wisest action to take is pre-planning. In case of national or local disaster by fire, flood, hurricane or war, it is inevitable that the supply lines of food, water and sewage will be disrupted. When this happens, the diseases which are now well contained will run rampant. Diseases such as diphtheria, polio, cholera and typhoid fever will probably claim more lives than the disaster itself. Now is the time to check the family immunization records and contact your doctor to obtain the necessary protection against the dread diseases of our times. Now would be a good time to take advantage of boosters, polio and measles vaccine.

THE HUNTING SEASON

The hunting season is upon us in Massachusetts, and the Massachusetts Heart Association today urged hunters to exercise common-sense precautions to cut the toll of heart attacks that the season brings.

Throughout the Bay State, hunters will go out for birds from Oct. 21 to Nov. 29; the archery season for deer opens Nov. 11 and runs through Nov. 23; and the big push — the traditional deer season — opens Dec. 2 for one week.

That MHA counseled heart patients who wish to hunt to confer first with their physicians. Hiking through marshes and brambles, trudging uphill, stalking the prey, cool weather, high altitudes, all can impose a greater-than-usual strain on the heart.

If the physician gives his blessing and the recovered patient follows his advice carefully, he can enjoy hunting for years to come.

The Heart Association offered the following suggestions to remove the strain from hunting:

1. — First, get into condition. Hunting is an active sport which deserves prior training. Start with moderate exercises and then step it up gradually.

2. — On the trip itself, take the load off your heart in every possible way. For instance, use warm but lightweight clothing.

3. — If the expedition is at a higher altitude than you're accustomed to, go a few days early to let your body adjust to it.

4. — Whenever you feel tired, rest as often and as long as necessary.

5. — When the deer season arrives, never try to drag in a heavy carcass alone. It's a job for two or more able-bodied men. Arrange a signal beforehand and wait until help arrives. A man with Heart trouble should let others take this job over completely.

6. — Never hunt alone. If you have heart trouble, tell at least one companion about any medication you may be taking, where you carry it and instructions for using it.

In case of emergency, stricken hunters should be kept absolutely still and have the quickest medical aid possible. If possible, the doctor should go to him rather than the victim being taken to the doctor. If he must be moved, a litter should be used.

Victims should be kept warm, but not so warm they sweat. Tight clothing should be loosened. If the victim has a prescription and can swallow, give it carefully. Never force anything into an unconscious person's mouth, for he might choke.

menu; Joseph Pisano, music; and Gino Rossi, refreshments. Subcommittee co-ordinator is Joseph Cancelliere.

The local chapter of UNICO, which is a nation-wide association of Italian-American businessmen, is now in its second year and is looking ahead to an ever expanding program of civic endeavors, according to Mr. Masucci.

He said all revenue from the dinner will be used to further Agawam's UNICO civic endeavors which last year included camperships for needy town youth to the YMCA Camp and scholarships to several local students helping to further their college careers.

"We are hoping to outdo last year's dinner program which was one of the most successful events of its kind ever held in town," Mr. Calabrese said today adding that all the town's residents "of any and all ethnic groups" were invited to take part.

He said the dinner would feature the most popular Italian foods and delicacies and would be followed by dancing. The affair is informal and tickets are available from any member of the chapter or by contacting Mr. Christopher at 170 Meadow St., Agawam.

family name to so-called "Boston" politics. The result is that "money politics" rather than "typical politics," at least in any Agawam sense, tends to dominate. This is a serious mistake. If we allow it, all of us will suffer eventually.

We are not concerned primarily with whether this "typical" candidate is a Republican or a Democrat. What we are concerned with is whether he practices the attitudes so typical of Agawam. Is he the same type as we would want to be? If he is frugal in his campaign, if he was economical in his past thinking, if he makes no promises, if he will answer your questions honestly, then you can believe he will do the same as your selectman. One who spends lavishly now will do the same later. He is a "type." The sad part is that later it will be your money and not others'. One who saved for you as a member of the "Finance Board" will save you tax dollars as a selectman. He too is a "type." People just don't change attitudes from day to day.

All this adds up to Ed Connelly as your best choice for selectman. If he voted down your pay raise, if he voted against seven new firemen, if he voted no sewer funds for your street, if he favored a new drainage system for your "Shopping Mart," he did it with your interests first and foremost. He wanted to save for you, not himself. He wants to be your candidate for selectman, he is being "typical." He is your "type." A man who has your interests at heart all the way. He fits perfectly into the Agawam picture. He is not a "non-conformist."

George L. Reynolds,
Chairman Connelly for Selectman Committee

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

The 18th annual Martha's Vineyard Striped Bass and Bluefish Derby has come to a close with 2927 fish weighed in and is second only to the 17th derby. Broken down the species ran as follows: 1537 bass, 1390 blues.

First grand prize for a non-resident in the striper competition was taken by Serge DeSomov of Hampton Bays, Long Island, N. Y., who weighed in a fish going 52 pounds and 13 oz. Merton Snowden of West Tisbury, Mass., won the residents 1st grand prize with a 49 pound bass. The largest blue fish weighed in was 12 pounds and 10 ounces. Frank Valosi of Grand Forks, North Dakota, was the lucky angler.

The derby has grown in popularity in the past few years. 1652 contestants weighed in fish this year.

The F & M Shaefer Individual Poundage Award was taken by William Nolan of Norwell, Mass. Bill is also a member to the New England Outwriters Association Inc. He turned in 643 pounds of striper bass in order to win the award. Bill is a hard fisherman and fished every day of the derby.

While we are on the subject of fishing here are some statistics from the Heddon Fish Lure Co., about bass fishing. It seems that an individual by the name of Sam Welch kept records on bass fishing at Bull Shoals Lake and turned over the information to the Heddon researchers for study.

Sam's recordings show that of thousands of big bass caught in Bull Shoals Lake during 1962, 19.7% were taken on artificial lures. That skinny 9.3% caught on natural or live bait should prove once and for good that artificials are not made just to catch fishermen.

And, of this 90.7% bass bonanza, 31.3% were trying to make meal of jug-eel or plastic worm combos, while underwater plugs too 27% and spinner lures accounted for 19.5%. Thus, a total of 77.8% were caught down, compared to only 9.6% taken on surface lures. All of the bass caught by the listed artificials were in the 4-pound-and-up area, "up" meaning to 11 pounds.

All of which points out the wisdom of fishing for big bass down where they live, not up where you'd like to catch them. Topwater fishing is tops for sport, but it's near the bottom of the lake where most big bass are taken.

TIGERS TRIP AGAWAM 30-6

By RANDY McLEAN

The Agawam Brownies suffered their second loss in three starts Saturday, 30-6, at the hands of the Tech Tigers. The game was dominated by the Tigers, who are 2-0 in Western Mass. Conference play, while the Brownies are 1-2. It was not an easy victory for Tech with the hard-hitting Agawam defense giving them trouble.

It just was not Agawam's day, with their lone score, a pass from Bill Turgeon to Ron Penna, coming early in the fourth quarter. The most spectacular Tech score was the 80 yard run by Bobo Harris in the second period. That was the only long gainer by the powerful Tiger backfield, showing that the young Agawam defensive unit was sharp. The offense wasn't completely stymied by the Tech defense, but a few penalties and fumbles stopped some sure scoring drives.

Next week's game is at Westfield, who scored a sound win over Holyoke this week. Although the Bombers are not a contender, they are rolling. And after this week's loss the Brownies should be out for blood. Let's all go and cheer the team onto victory...

Springfield Indians To Face Reds Saturday

The Springfield Indians broke even on their weekend series handing the Baltimore Clippers a 4-2 setback on Saturday and then losing 7-3 to the Hershey Bears on Sunday.

Both Shore and Egan were upset over the team's showing against the Bears on Sunday even though three of the goals were scored against them while they were short handed. The two mentors plan daily workouts in preparation for their weekend home and home series with their arch rivals the Providence Reds.

The Indians will meet the Reds at the Eastern States Coliseum, West Springfield, on Saturday at 8 p.m. and journey to Providence for their first road game of the season on Sunday. The high flying Reds currently leading the Eastern Division will give the Indians a true test as they are rated as one of the strongest teams in the league.

The Tribe had some welcome news on Sunday night when defenseman Bill Speer decided to join the team. Speer who had been at training camp this fall then went home rejoined his teammates on Sunday and will start working out with the squad immediately.

Bill played for Knoxville of the Eastern Amateur League last season. In 68 games played he scored 10 goals and got 44 assists for a total of 54 points, a very presentable record for a defenseman. He joined the Indians last season for the final three weeks. Although he did not play in any games he had ample opportunity to familiarize himself with the Indian's style of play. Both Shore and Egan were impressed with him at that time and again at camp this fall, he is a good puck carrier and has a good shot.

Reflectorized Tape For Trick-or-Treaters

On Halloween, youngsters traveling on foot after dark would be wise, the Automobile Legal Association points out, to trim the tops of their trick-or-treat bags with red reflectorized tape to allow motorists a chance to more easily spot would-be spooks and goblins.

Automobile headlights, the ALA noted, cause the reflectorized tape to glow in the dark. This effect will not only help the small frye on their night of nights, but will be in the interest of safety.

that there are plenty of good seats at all prices for Saturday's contest against Providence and the Box Office is open daily Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

Following the weekend series with Providence the Indians will meet Cleveland at the Coliseum on Friday Nov. 1, and Buffalo on Saturday the 2nd. They will journey to Quebec for a pair of games the 3rd and 5th.

MASS. MUTUAL RELEASE TROUT

Greater Springfield anglers can again look forward to catching some whoppers this year, thanks to the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Today, the insurance company drained its home office terrace pools and released the 18 Rainbow trout that have been "summering" in them since May, living on a daily diet of chopped liver. The fish were released into Chapin Pond in Ludlow.

Lewis C. Schlotterbeck, aquatic biologist of the Massachusetts Department of Fish and Game, applied "Massachusetts Mutual" metal tags to the 18 trout that average 16-18 inches. These delectable trout will be legal game between now and February 28 at Chapin Pond.

This is the second year the company has stocked its pools with trout to be released in a lake open to public fishing. A year ago, the Massachusetts Mutual, in cooperation with the state fish and game department, tagged 19 trout that had spent the summer in the company's pools and released them in Lake Lorraine. All but one of the tags were returned to the company.

Any fisherman who catches a "Massachusetts Mutual" tagged trout and mails the tag along with his name and address to the home office at 1295 State St., Springfield, will receive a cigarette lighter. Young anglers who catch the tagged trout will receive a coin calendar bank from the company.

SQUARE DANCE

By Norm and Dot Jenks

Witches and ghosts, cowboys and Indians, foreign dignitaries and people from fairyland will all be dancing come the eve of Oct. 25th at the school on top of the hill, Robinson Park. It's the favorite haunt for Halloween merry makers. When the clock strikes 8 p.m. the music begins and the head ghost, Dick Steele will treat you to a tricky square dance you'll not forget.

Ruth and Ed Johnson plus a fine committee have been putting their heads together to plan a Halloween party to please even the scariest masquerader. Prizes will be awarded for costumes but you may come dressed as usual and enjoy the fun anyway.

Fran and Carl Link, our wonderful refreshment chairmen, will have plenty of that witches brew (coffee that is and tea for those who prefer it), plus something delicious to go with it . . . need I say more. Come and knock on the door of the Promenaders and you will get the best treat offered anywhere.

Banner Collection Is Growing!

We got another one and we had three sets of Promenaders to carry it home. That Acrebrook Club is a real live wire club and we had a grand time with them last Friday. We will be going visiting again next month so watch for the time and the place.

If you have been wondering about those seniors who hurry along the hall with paper and pencil, jotting down words, they aren't students doing their neglected homework! They are members of the SACHEM staff trying to use every precious minute of their day to work on a page of the year book. Those squeals of surprise and flashing lights are only the staff taking candid pictures of the seniors!

It isn't only the staff who work on the yearbook. Many seniors search their old scrapbooks for pictures deserving a place in the SACHEM of themselves and their friends in grammar school! Even though the seniors grumble "why do we have to fill out so many papers?!", they aid the statistics committee to fulfill their job efficiently. The people from the "Senior Sketch" committee interview help them in their seemingly endless task. You can hear someone in the music room trying to compose the class song to go with the lyrics. And the co-operation of the entire student body during picture-taking sessions allows the yearbook to be original, professional, and memorable.

THE LOST PRINCESS

(An Old Scot Tale)

Out for a walk through the fairy woods, the fairy Princess Rosepetal was caught in the rain. She took shelter under a dandelion leaf. Back at the Palace, Glitterwing, the little assistant Chamberlain, had organized a search party. But they cannot go out in the rain. One fairy has suggested that they might make umbrellas. Now read on:—

"I've seen those umbrellas mortals use," Glitterwing said thoughtfully. "But we don't have anything like them in Fairyland. How could we make them?"

The fairies looked glumly at each other. No one could think of anything.

Glitterwing sat down by the window and stared out at the rain thinking hard. All of a sudden, her eyes fell on the big foxglove plant that grew close to the palace.

"I know!" she cried, and the other fairies looked at her eagerly.

"What is it, Glitterwing?" one of them called.

"The foxglove flowers," Glitterwing exclaimed. "They're almost the right shape!"

She leant out of the window, taking care not to get her wings wet, and pulled off a foxglove flower. She put it down on the floor.

"See," she said. "The inside of the flower is quite dry. The rain just rolls off the outside. If we hold these above our heads, they will shelter us from the rain."

"Our arms will be very tired, Glitterwing," another fairy pointed out.

"I'll get the fairy carpenters to fix little sticks inside the flowers," Glitterwing said. "Then they will be almost exactly the same as the humans' umbrellas!"

"Hooray!" cried the fairies. "Now we'll be able to go to look for the Princess!"

Glitterwing hardly heard them as she leant out of the window to pull off more foxglove flowers. Soon enough lay on the floor to the little hill had become surrounded by water! They couldn't reach Rosepetal, and she couldn't get to them!

"Well, we've found the Princess," Glitterwing sighed. "But what do we do now?"

Glumly the fairies stood at the water's edge and waved to Rosepetal, who was trying very hard to be brave.

Suddenly, a throaty voice spoke.

"What's wrong, fairies?"

Glitterwing turned round to see a big frog smiling down at her. She told him what had happened.

"Just watch," the frog smiled.

With one big hop, he landed beside the Princess and spoke to her. She clambered on to his back, held tight, and with another hop the frog was back beside the fairies!

"Thank you, Mr. Frog!" cried Rosepetal.

The kindly frog waved good

"There she is!" cried Glitterwing.

shelter all the fairies in the search party, with an extra one for the Princess.

Then she hurried to fetch the fairy carpenters. They set to work at once, and soon each fairy carried a foxglove umbrella!

Glitterwing picked up a glow-worm lantern and hurried into the main hall of the palace.

The search party set off in the rain. The foxglove umbrellas worked very well, for the raindrops just bounced off them.

At length they came to a little toadstool house in the fairy woods. Glitterwing knocked at the door and a little pixie answered.

"Have you seen Princess Rosepetal?" Glitterwing asked anxiously.

"Yes but it was a long time ago," the pixie answered. "She was here, and went on through the woods not long before the rain started."

"Thank you," Glitterwing said.

The search party hurried on, and soon came to the edge of the woods. And there, sitting under a dandelion leaf on the top of a little hill, was Princess Rosepetal!

"There she is!" cried Glitterwing thankfully.

But then Glitterwing's face fell. It had rained so hard that bye as they all went back to the palace, each fairy still carrying her foxglove umbrella. Rosepetal was so pleased with hers that she carried it everywhere!

The End.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. I work occasionally as a babysitter for a number of families in my neighborhood. How can I get credit for this work on my social security account? None of my employers reports my earnings.

A. Each employer who pays you $50 or more in cash in a calendar quarter is required to report your earnings. Show your social security card to your employers and keep a record of the cash wages paid to you. Ask the social security office for Booklet No. 24 which explains about social security for household workers. It also has a place for you to keep a record of your earnings.

At the last meeting of the Agawam Lions Club, Oct. 16, two new members were inducted: Fred J. Affsa and Wyle E. Brame. Ceremonies were conducted by a team from the Greenfield Club headed by International Counselor Dave Bartlett, assisted by International Counselors Ben Center and Aubrey Reid. Lion Center was District Governor in 1940, Lion Bartlett in 1945, and Lion Reid in 1952.

Their charges were very informative and instructional, and the new members, also the older ones, learned much about the organization — its aims, ideals, and accomplishments. King Lion John Porter expressed the thanks of the club. George Andrews won the attendance prize.
